

Berglandkräuter GbF

Berglandkräuter (herbs in the land of the mountains) is the only biological tee and herbs manufactory in Hessia, which gets their raw material mainly from Hessia and the neighboring regions. For the women who own it, Ute Kern & Monika Rehs, „Bio“ is not only part of their business plan but rather an attitude towards life, which manifests itself in the contemplation of the product. The majority of the herbs come from the cultural landscapes of Hessian mountainous lands, Rhein-Pfalz, Franken and Lower Saxony. The cooperating enterprises in the region are responsible for the cultivation and for the way of drying that preserves the flavor. Part of the herbs and spices originate outside Germany, while a fair handling and sustainability always have priority. In the rooms of Berglandkräuter subsequently the precious raw materials are filled as spices and harmonious tees into bags.

Transparency, Quality and Frankness belong to our principles, amongst them:

- ◆ Regional cultivation
- ◆ Preserving processing
- ◆ Bio-Quality of certified cultivators

A 100% biological breeding of the herbs by our agricultural partners and a preserving processing in our rooms are the two guarantees of Berglandkräuter GbR. The ecological cultivation guarantees that there are no genetically manipulated organisms and a pure cultivation of the herbs. We know many of our suppliers personally and know about the areas under cultivation and ways of transport of our herbs.

From hand to hand – philosophy of our enterprise: In order to give fair prices for good products and in spite of that stay able to keep the price of products sold on a reasonable level, we decide to use reduced packaging. Tees are packed in green block bottom bags and spices in orange block bottom bags. These are entirely made of paper. Some mixed sorts of tee- or spices for optical reasons are packed in (transparent) PP-bags.

Pure power of nature

Responsibility towards the world in which we live determines our action and is the reason why we only sell "Bio"-foods.

"BIO" is an attitude towards life, which manifests itself not only in guidelines for cultivation.

Moreover, it is the wholistic view of the product.

Herbs in harmony with nature – a pleasure

The home of our herbs is a cultural landscape formed by farmers nearly without contamination: The Hessian mountainous land, but part of our products also come from Rhineland-Pfalz, the Franconian region and Lower Saxony. The regional cultivators are certified according to rigorous guidelines by Bioland. On their farms they provide a valuable contribution to nature oriented, sustainable agriculture. The preparation and drying which preserves the flavor is their responsibility.

Natural. Original, Incomparable

The dried and crushed herbs are mixed professionally in our house according to our own recipes and subsequently filled manually. This complex manual work is guaranteeing maximum preservation during the processing and nearly no loss of flavor by cracks of the so very valuable product of entire leaves.
