

Declaration of Good Academic Practice

I hereby declare that I have prepared this thesis (or term paper) independently, have not used any resources other than those stated and that the passages in the thesis (or term paper) that have been taken from other works as exact wording (quoted) or essential content (paraphrased) have been properly identified and referenced.

Furthermore, I declare that I have read the brochure "Regeln und Tipps" / "Rules and Tips" prepared by the Institute of Economic and Social History before writing the paper and that I am familiar with the guidelines given therein.

I am aware that plagiarism, which also includes copying from internet sources without proper reference or identification, is not only academically dishonest and contradicts the guidelines of the Georg-August-Universität Göttingen for safeguarding good academic practice of June 5, 2002, but can also have considerable legal consequences. Potential consequences include expulsion from the university. I agree to the examination of this thesis by a plagiarism checking software.

I confirm that the electronic and printed versions of this thesis (or term paper) are identical. This declaration is legally binding.
